Apt. 3 is a unique, two-bedroom apartment on the top floor in this converted Victorian house. Synge House (formerly Newtown Villa) was the birthplace one of Ireland's most well-known playwrights J.M Synge - author of the Playboy of the Western World. One of 6 apartments in this two-and-a-half storey over garden early Victorian property, Synge House is well situated in this gated enclave just off Braemor Road.

This well-appointed apartment is bright and airy with many period style features including fabulous high ceilings (over 3.80m high) with ornate coving, centre ceiling roses, picture rails and tall sash windows with shutters. With an enviable southerly aspect, this apartment enjoys birds eye views over the Dublin hills and surrounding areas.

The location needs little introduction- within minutes of excellent local shopping in Churchtown and Rathgar village, with its specialist boutique style shops and restaurants, and all the amenities of Churchtown, Rathfarnham, Terenure and Dundrum nearby. Leisure facilities abound with the parklands of Orwell, Dartry and Bushy at hand, interlinked by the Dodder Linear Park not forgetting two of Dublin's most prestigious golf clubs – Milltown and Castle. The 14-bus route on Braemor Road provides reliable transport to the Dundrum Centre, city centre and beyond and the LUAS is within easy reach.
